WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—Announcement by the Federal farm board that government funds are not going to be thrown into the Chicago wheat pit to stabilize prices on the 1931 crop was interpreted here today as marking the end of the great governmental experiment in the wheat-buying business.

Already gorged with wheat which it is unable to digest or dispose of, except at enormous monetary loss, the board, under its new chairman, James C. Stone, has decided upon a radical about-face in the policy it pursued under the direction of Alexander H. Legge.

Effect of this warning and the new policy remains to be seen. (Continued On Page Ten)

Sergeant Frey, Victim Of Slaying Is Buried With Military Honors

(International News Service)
ALBANY, Mar. 23.—Without one definite clue upon which to work, state and local police authorities today continued the search for Stanley Chero and William Schmeltzer, Broughton, Pa., youths who are wanted in connection with the slaying of Sergeant John E. Frey of Troop G, state police.

Reward Offered
A reward of $6,000 offered by state police for information leading to the arrest of the slayers has spurred authorities into the most intensive man-hunt in the state's history and brought scores of tips to the state police which when run down proved futile.

Two squads of state police, several armed with rifles early today searched the woods near Selkirk, five miles from here, in the belief that the two men who held up a New York Central trainwalker may have been the slayers of Sergeant Frey. No trace of the men could be found.

Roads Are Guarded
All roads in this part of the state still are being watched closely for the Albany car with which the slayers are believed to have made their getaway. No trace of the stolen machine has been found, which leads some of the state police to express the belief that the youths have escaped the net thrown out for them and have made their way either into Canada or possibly have returned to their home state.

Sergeant Frey was buried from his home at Troy yesterday with military honors. It was estimated 20,000 spectators were in the crowd that formed near his home.

Spring's Here

(International News Service)
CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Mar. 23.—Considerable evidence was on tap today to show that the long-heralded spring had arrived. Sunshine, budding trees, etc.

But Jake and Lena made it downright official. Jake and Lena, two shaggy black bears at this summer resort, went into their annual hibernation here last winter.

Yesterday, while a crowd of visitors surrounded their cave, Jake poked an inquisitive snout through the cobwebs, sniffed the spring breeze and ambled forth.

Behind him came Lena. She seemed, somehow, to paddle along more proudly. There was a reason. In fact, there were two reasons. Behind Lena gambled two young bear cubs, playful and affectionate. The cubs will be christened "Jake and Lena, Jr."

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Mar. 23.—Two airplanes waited within easy cruising distance of Horse Island in northern Newfoundland today to search for possible survivors of the sealing ship Viking, shattered a week ago by an accidental explosion of dynamite with a resultant loss of at least 20 lives.

While Bernt Balchen and two companions, who flew here from St. John, N. B., in seven hours, awaited gasoline supplies dispatched by special train, Lieutenant Robert F. Fogg and Al Mangalore piloted their plane to Hampden, less than sixty miles from the scene of the Viking disaster.

TRIAL TO RANK

Accused Slayer Of Former

Flashily Dressed

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Mar. 23.—"Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, his customary aplomb unshaken and his flair for "dressy" clothes still in evidence, went on trial here today for the mysterious slaying of William E. Potter, former member of city council, who during his turbulent stay in politics, was termed "Rarin' Bill".

Sensations Expected
The trial was expected to rank, in sensationalism and color, with the George Remus murder trial, most famous in Ohio history.

Samuel Rosenberg, Pittsburgh attorney, provided the first fireworks when he moved that the indictment charging Martin with first degree murder be quashed. Rosenberg argued that Hymie had been taken illegally from the Allegheny county courthouse in Pittsburgh, where he had been captured.

Ray T. Miller, Cuyahoga county prosecutor, vigorously opposed the motion. Miller told Judge Walter McMahon, presiding jurist, that Judge Joseph Stadfeld had ruled in Pittsburgh that Martin could be brought to Cleveland to answer the murder charges and that his removal was in accordance with the ruling.

Judge McMahon overruled the motion, stating that he was satisfied Martin's removal was accomplished in a legal manner inasmuch as Pittsburgh authorities had not requested his return.

Task of selecting a jury followed the court's ruling on the motion. The jury is not expected to be completed before Wednesday. Miss Helen Vilas was the first of the jury.

Little Girl Is Struck By Auto; Fatally Injured

Santa Bombara, Aged 4 1/2

Accident Takes Place At Bessemer On Saturday Afternoon

Santa Bombara, four and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bombara of Bessemer, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock when she was struck by an automobile driven by Miss Maud Mitchell, of 201 Elm St., this city.

Miss Mitchell was on her way to Canton, O., to visit her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Jordan, who is employed at the Y. W. C. A. in Canton. She was alone in the car, and had turned around the municipal building in Bessemer, and started on the road south of the building, leading toward the Youngstown road.

Girl Runs Into Street
Shortly after she had made the turn she noticed a group of children playing on the sidewalk. Miss Mitchell stated to Coroner J. P. Caldwell and State Highway patrolman M. P. Sarko that she was driving slowly. Suddenly the little Bombara girl darted out from the sidewalk and ran directly in front of the machine.

The little girl was knocked down, and when Miss Mitchell brought her car to a stop the child was lying under the rear of the machine. She was picked up by persons who had witnessed the accident and taken to the office of a doctor in Bessemer.

Indications seemed to be that she was not seriously injured but the doctor advised that she be brought to New Castle. She was taken to the New Castle hospital where she died soon after being brought in.

There were no marks on her except a blue spot on the abdomen and an abrasion of the scalp. Doctors who examined her, gave it as their opinion that she had probably suffered injuries at the base of the brain.

The little girl is survived by her parents and one brother, Felix Bombara. Funeral services will be held in Bessemer. Constable A. A. Shoup investigated the accident at Bessemer. Coroner J. P. Caldwell will hold an inquest at the municipal building in Bessemer on Tuesday evening.

Funeral services of Santa Bombara of Bessemer, who was killed Saturday afternoon in an accident near her home, will be held Tuesday morning at ten o'clock in St. Anthony's church, Bessemer. Interment will be made in St. Lawrence Cemetery, Hillsville.

DEBRIS SEARCHED

(International News Service)
LEIGHTON, Eng., Mar. 23.—Fast traffic on the London-Edinburgh line was hampered today while augmented labor crews cleared away the wreckage of the Royal Scot, crack English train, which jumped the tracks near here yesterday with the loss of at least six lives.

Rescuers worked throughout the late hours to extricate the scores of injured trapped in the coaches, indicating that the death toll may increase. Among those reported killed was Sir George Saltmarsh, grain expert connected with the allied wheat purchasing commission in 1915 and 1916.

The accident occurred 38 miles from London, but its cause has not been definitely determined. The train left the track and plowed into the roadbed. Three of the dead were passengers and the others members of the crew.

The Royal Scot, considered one of the best and smartest trains in the field of railroading, averaged approximately 90 miles an hour on a run from London to Carlisle.

HARRISBURG, Mar. 23.—Pennsylvania's General Assembly will reconvene here tonight with prospects of receiving the first of the administration bills designed to correct so-called evils in the public utilities laws and another clash over the Mussmanno industrial police measures in the offing.

Sentiment on Capitol Hill today, as members of both chambers arrived for the week's work, was that the remedial legislation on public utilities was due, but whether it would be presented at tonight's opening session was uncertain.

Dopesters, however, looked for another affray over the Mussmanno measures.

Both the coal and iron police bills sponsored by the Allegheny member are on the second reading calendar of the house. They went there when the chamber last week voted down, after embittered debate, an attempt by Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington, the Pinchot floor leader, to recommit the bills for further consideration.

It was considered quite likely that another attempt would be made tonight to return the bills to the committee, where the administration industrial police bill lies, but whether the move would succeed if made was doubtful.

Senators and representatives both appeared due for a busy week, a survey of calendars in both houses forecasted.

Profits Made By Util-

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 23.—Governor Gifford Pinchot today made public provisions of a bill which will be introduced in the house tonight, providing for a fair rate board to replace the present Public Service Commission.

In a statement accompanying the draft of the measure the governor summed up its provisions.

"This bill," said he, "provides for a square deal all around, which is precisely what our people have not had."

"Personally I see no reason why our women should be deprived of essential electric conveniences in their homes, our manufacturers be handicapped by the high cost of power, and our people generally be oppressed by excessive rates just in order that a few men in other states may become cent-millionaires."

Seven Districts
The bill divides the state into seven districts, each of which would elect one member to the fair rate board. The members from each would be elected at the municipal elections next November for as many years as the number of the district. That plan would permit elections of successors for one district. AKRON, Ohio, March 23.—Paul F. Kassay, 37, expert mechanic at the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, who was accused of an alleged sabotage plot against the new navy dirigible, The Akron, was indicted by the Summit grand jury today on charges of criminal syndicalism.

The indictment was returned before Kassay was to have appeared in District Court of Appeals for a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. Assistant County Prosecutor George Hargreaves, who signed the affidavit for Kassay's arrest last Friday, presented the case to the grand jury. He was accompanied in the jury room by Oscar G. Hall, federal secret service agent, who was the only witness to testify before the jurors.

The unexpected action of Hargreaves in asking the grand jury to return an indictment was regarded as a move to block the habeas corpus hearing scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Kassay was to be arraigned on the charges contained in the indictment late today or tomorrow.

Here's a case that goes back to the days before the federal prohibition law and to the time when local option was still in effect. This was a town which had gone dry under the local option law.

Tombs, in spite of the law which forbade any person from taking or soliciting orders for liquor or accepting any for liquor, tried to deliver a quantity of whisky to one of the town's wealthy citizens. Tombs was fairly on his way to deliver it when he was apprehended and put in jail, but he was released on bond.

During the time Tombs was thus on bond the law was repealed. Nevertheless, Tombs was called to trial.

Floyd Lauman Taken By Death

Well Known Resident Dies At Butler Avenue Home After Brief Illness

In the passing away Saturday evening, March 21, 1931, at seven o'clock at his residence, 725 Butler avenue of Floyd Lauman, aged 72, clerk at The Leslie hotel for the past ten years and former local theatre manager, one of the city's best known men, a very active career of the theatrical and business world, not only of this city, but the state, was ended. His passing caused widespread regret and sorrow not only here but throughout the entire theatrical profession in which he was widely known. Mr. Lauman's death followed an illness of about two weeks duration due to congestion of the lungs.

Mr. Lauman was born in Reading, Pa., December 21, 1859, the son of Colonel George M. Lauman, who saw active service in the Mexican war and was born in Lancaster, Pa., and Josephine Peretti. Lauman, who was born in Paris, France, Mr. Lauman is the last of his family.

He was a man of varied and very active experience. In his earlier life he was a professional baseball player, being a member of the famous Reading, Pa., team of many years ago. His first visit to New Castle was rather unusual and may have been one of the reasons of his spending the past thirty years here.

He was accustomed to refer to his first visit here, when as a member of the Reading, Pa., baseball team, he arrived here with that team to play the famous Neshannocks of this city. On the arrival of the Reading team, its members were under the impression that they had made a mistake in coming, as it was only a little town and had the appearance of being far from being the home of a team of any calibre.

But he and his teammates received the surprise of their lives, when the Neshannock administered to the Reading team, the worst defeat of its history up until that time. Mr. Lauman often referred to the team that administered this defeat, it including among its members, Charley Bennett, Robert Whaley, Ed. E. Bigley and others, many of whom were famous baseball players of their times. Mr. Lauman played first base.

His baseball career was followed by a career on the stage, where as an actor, he was more than the ordinary success. From actor, he became a theatre manager and for a time prior to coming here, he was manager of the famed Trocadero theatre of Philadelphia.

He came to this city about thirty years ago as manager of the Gorking Opera house and since that time has made his home here. After being manager of the theatre here for many years, he eventually became associated with the hotel business, where he was successful due to his years of experience with people in public life. For the past ten years, he had been associated with the Leslie hotel.

He was married twenty-five years ago to Linda Kirker, who survives him. Besides his wife, he leaves a niece, Miss Louise Oblinger of Lancaster, Pa.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, March 24, 1931, at 2 p. m. at the late residence, 725 Butler avenue, with Dr. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

STAR LORE

WHEN OUR SUN MET WITH A GREAT ACCIDENT

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The age of the earth is very great. The scientists' best evidence shows that some 2,000 million years ago a great star passed by our sun, lifting a tide of tremendous proportions, just as in a small way the moon lifts tides upon the oceans of our earth. This tidal wave upon the sun became so great and so violent that the crest of its gaseous matter separated from the surging mass and was drawn away into outer space. These torn off portions congealed and became planets that had been given such vigorous forward momentum they never fall back again into the sun, but rotated around it forever after.

Death Rate In Infants And Mothers Reduced By Educational Work

Post-Natal Instruction Needed In Remote Farm Districts
Of America, Thinks Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Posters designed to instruct ignorant mothers and fathers are widely distributed in Russia by the department of maternal and infant welfare. I have just seen a set of them and consider them interesting and useful. They are brilliantly colored and striking in design, and while they probably would be unconvictional, and even too daringly frank by prudish minds, they must do a great deal of good in a land where most of the population cannot read, and where for centuries they have treated expectant mothers and mothers who have just been delivered with brutal lack of consideration.

The peasant woman in Russia evidently was expected to get up in a day or two after her child was born and resume her regular work on the farm. One of the posters represents a section of a woman's body right after delivery and has the caption: "The uterus (womb) after delivery is a big open wound, and is easily infected. Watch cleanliness and do not work for seven days."

An important part of this educational campaign is directed against the death rate for eclampsia and other diseases of the expectant mother. One picture shows a woman carrying a milk pail from barn in spite of the swollen condition of her legs and arms. The caption reads: "Swelling during pregnancy is a sickness. Consult the physician; pay no attention to the neighbors."

One of these posters deals with the proper care of the baby. Infant mortality in Russia is very high, but probably not much higher than in tenement and ignorant farm districts of our own country.

"From what do so many of our children die before they reach the age of one year?" asks the heading of the poster and the answer is:

"Chewed nipples, adding cereals too early to the baby's diet, dirt, and not knowing how to care for the baby, are reasons that cause the loss of so many babies in our woods." Infant feeding is the subject of another poster.

"Cow's milk—6 months old—8 pounds.
"Mother's milk—6 months old—18 pounds."

Pictures of the articles a nursing mother is allowed to eat: Fish, fowl, beef, cucumbers, lobsters, carrots, cabbage, apples, cherries, currants, pretzels, bread, eggs, milk, cocoa.

What a nursing mother is not allowed: Pictures of bottles of vodka, wine, liquors, garlic, onions, horse-radish, relishes.

Still another poster deals with rickets—called (quite properly) by the Russians, the English disease.

"Improper feeding of cow's milk, close air, darkness, dampness—these are the causes of rickets."

"Strong sunshine and light are the worst enemies of disease. Be outdoors with your baby much of the time, both winter and summer. Air your rooms every day."

Comment on these posters is quite unnecessary. Why would not similar ones be useful distributed in our own city tenements and isolated farming districts?

There's no accounting for taste. Some people have ambitions to reach the North Pole. More favor the South Pole as the goal of their mental longings. Then there is Miss Florence Brooks (above), of St. Louis, Mo., who is perfectly satisfied with the pole she adorns at Miami Beach, Fla. The wild waves are no longer wild as they gaze upon the charming picture she presents.

Epler, The Magician Entertains
Members Of Association
In East Brook High

The East Brook High School Auditorium was the scene of many wonders Friday night when Epler, the magician and cartoonist, entertained under the auspices of the Hickory Heights Parent-Teacher Association.

His program consisted of drawing objects from the air and many other unexpected places, changing objects from one place to another, and making flowers spring up unexpectedly. The sleight of hand performance was accompanied by a barrage of ready wit.

His production of the masterpiece "Rock of Ages" from bits of rag was an illusion hard to believe and marvelous.

Music was furnished by Mr. Eakin and the orchestra from Plaingrove High school.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile agony or money back.

Widow Of Stage Actor Writes Husband's Life

Late Henry Belmar Of New Castle Born On Atlantic And Derived
Name From It

A life story of the late Henry Belmar, veteran Shakespearean stage performer and motion picture producer, has been written for theatrical records by his widow, Mrs. Laurel Love Belmar, of this city. Because of Mr. Belmar's long residence in New Castle and his many friends here, the following resume of his colorful career will be of great interest.

"Henry Belmar, who passed on January 12, 1931, was born on the Atlantic ocean April 27, 1849, of English and Scotch parentage.

He passed his youth in Toronto, Canada, where he became a member of the Holman Grand Opera company, singing the leading roles at the age of nineteen. Yearning to be an actor he went at it with great determination and was rewarded with greater success than many men of the foot-lights had achieved in a life time. He played leading Shakespearean parts for two years, after which he supported such stars as Mr. and Mrs. F. Sheridan, Edwin Booth at the Booth theatre, New York City, and other famous tragedians and tragediennes.

It was while touring Canada with his own Shakespearean company that he engaged a young amateur actor who became one of our greatest stars, the late Henry Miller. Mr. Belmar also managed plays and co-starred with the late Ada Grey in "Camille," "East Lynne," "Lady of Lyons."

Mr. Belmar was the leading man of the Whitney Opera House stock company, Detroit, Michigan, for three years where he supported all of the prominent visiting stars of that time, playing classic, romantic and modern leads and was known as the youngest leading man in the profession.

He was a matinee idol and was in appearance well suited for the romantic place he filled, winning especial commendation for his portrayal of Romeo. Then followed stock starring engagements in Chicago, New York City and San Francisco. Back to New York again and in melodramas written and produced by himself.

Having a flare for writing, Mr. Belmar became an author and playwright, starring in many of his own plays, and later releasing them to traveling and stock companies throughout the country. He eventually abandoned acting as a profession in favor of writing. Some of his successful plays, novels and stories are—New York By Night, Her Double Life, Girl of My Dreams, Pavements of Paris, Goldfields of Nevada, Girl of the Plains, Arizona Ranger, The Blind Street Singer, Sweetest Story Ever Told, Society Thief, The Bull Fighter, A Woman Without a Soul, The Last Hope, The Lure, Eleventh Hour, Outside the Gates of Paradise, When Dreams Come True, Cast Up By the Sea, and Lincoln, Man of the People.

About 1909 he became interested in moving pictures, first as an actor and later as writer and director. In 1911 Mr. Belmar acquired seventy-five acres at Staten Island New York City where he built the largest outdoor studio in existence, consisting of coral, western and Mexican villages, log cabins, a reproduction of the Colosseum of Rome, castles, etc.

There he wrote and directed and produced pictures for five years, including the first three reel, (3000 foot) feature picture ever made. Many who are now prominent in moving pictures—actors, actresses, directors, cameramen and producers worked for Henry Belmar at his Staten Island studio.

It was there in 1914 that he made the feature picture "Life's Shop Window" for William Fox, the first feature picture ever released by the Fox Feature Film company.

The Deutsche Mutoshop and Biograph film company of Berlin, Germany, induced Mr. Belmar to write and direct feature pictures for them, but the world war burst and the Germany project was out of the question.

Across the country to Los Angeles he went. There he was associated with the late Thomas H. Ince. He left Mr. Ince and returned East, went to Minnesota to make "The Spirit of Minnehaha" for a historical society. Returning to New York City he met Mr. Ince and arranged to return to the Ince studios in California. With Mr. Ince again he became dissatisfied and left, returned for a few months and then resigned for good, having finally decided to make his picture "Lincoln,"

Mr. Belmar had that idea nearest his heart for years. His reading, research and writing of "Life of Lincoln" had occupied every spare moment for four years. He now decided to drop everything else and make his story into a picture, saying it would be his last as he would be ready to retire. It was while making this picture "Lincoln,"

Man of the People" that Mr. Belmar had a nervous breakdown from which he never fully recovered.

The name "Belmar" was taken from his family name "Bell" combined with Sea (Mare) the place of his birth. He was a brother of the late John A. Bell, lawyer and for many years editor in chief of the Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Belmar was highly educated, having deserted the stage long enough to finish his education at Oxford and Cambridge, England. He was well read, happy, alert and studious, with a wonderful sense of humor. He was keenly interested in sports of all kinds, ever and always a humanitarian, a lover of home.

He is survived by his widow, Laurel Love Belmar, actress, whom he married in 1907 at The Little Church Around the Corner in New York City, and also two sons by a former marriage, Harry, a doctor and Herbert, vaudeville actor.

In accordance with Mr. Belmar's wishes, the remains were cremated, the ashes to be scattered to the winds over the Atlantic ocean."

Peter's Adventures

CENTPEDE BREAKS UP PARTY
Centipede rushed headlong at Peter and so sudden was the attack that if it had not been for the goldenrod bush in between, it is likely the boy might have come to a sad end, then and there. As it was, quickwitted Peter clambered up the goldenrod stalk out of reach of the monster, and looking down, shuddered to watch Centipede doing his level best to spear the boy on sharp claws that grew near the monster's head, squirting from his glands a poison fluid that he hoped would fall upon his victim. Behind the cruel flat black head wriggled Centipede's fat, twenty-colored, slippery body.

The two old cronies were scared as scared could be. As soon as Centipede flew into a rage, wagging his poison-laden head and thrashing the grass with his body, Granther Greybeard raced off, swift as a breeze. Daddy Long-Legs took to his wings, calling a warning to Peter.

"Centipede is not a bad sort, and he will cool off in a moment, but while he is still angry, keep out of his reach boy! We'll meet again sometime, if you take good care of yourself now!" Off the old fellow went, and Peter looked down to find Centipede staring up at him.

"Not a bad sort, am I, Well, that's what Daddy Long-Legs said, and he's right. I'm mad no longer. Two-Legs. So come down and be my friend. I'm sort of insect who needs friends. Haven't many! Suppose it's because I lose my temper so often and make a fool of myself. Folks are afraid of me. Can't blame them. Wish I had my life to live over again. I'd try to be better-natured."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Peter's Adventures are rapidly drawing to a close. Within two days this story will come to an end.

Hope To Complete Selection Of Jury In Brothers Trial

Only Four Jurors Needed To Fill Box—Two Picked Temporarily

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Mar. 23.—Completion of the jury that is to try Leo V. Brothers, St. Louis gunman, for the gangland murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Tribune reporter, was expected today as the trial reconvened.

All but final panel of four jurors have been sworn in, and it is considered likely that this last panel will be selected during the day inasmuch as two of the jurors have been tentatively accepted.

With the jury completed the prosecution is expected to reveal the hitherto undisclosed evidence by which Brothers was indicted by a grand jury for the racketeering reporter's murder last June 9.

Since Brothers' arrest last December no inkling has come from the prosecution as to why the St. Louis man was connected with the Lingle killing.

At the opening of the trial last week the defendant's attorneys made the charge that the case against Brothers is a frameup.

Easiest Way To Break Up a Cold

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before
You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a fifty, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

Draining Off Anti-Freeze Is Important To Car

Local Motor Club Head Issues Timely Advice To Motorists

Failure of motorists to drain the anti-freeze from their cars at the end of the season of cold weather often leads to overheating and subsequent damage, according to Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club.

Mr. Bolsinger stated that to leave the anti-freeze in the car after the advent of warmer weather is comparable to the danger of allowing the car to freeze.

"Motorists should realize," he stated, "that overheating is one of the principal causes of serious engine trouble, including scored cylinders, piston seizure, bearing destruction and valve deterioration. Therefore, the value of keeping the cooling system working properly is apparent."

"Putting the car in perfect condition at this season of the year involves first draining the anti-freeze. After this is done the whole system should be flushed out with a salt-soda solution which will remove the scale and rust from the inside of the radiator and water jackets. Then a thorough flushing with pure water should follow to eliminate the soda solution before the radiator is refilled with clean water.

"Some forms of anti-freeze have a destructive effect on the hose connections, and when the cooling system is filled when warmer weather arrives, they are likely to be found porous and ill-fitting."

Giant Akron Dirigible

Perhaps no government project has furnished as much interest as the building of the world's largest dirigible, The Akron. Ever since the commencement of the structural work in the huge hanger at Akron, Ohio, hundreds and hundreds of people have gathered at the airport to see this marvel of mechanism.

On Sunday a representative of The News spent several hours in and about the hangar where The Akron is taking form. During that time thousands of interested spectators swarmed through the hangar and gazed awe-stricken at the greatest lighter than air machine the world has ever produced.

Since authorities discovered several days ago that The Akron had been tampered with in an effort to weaken the great duraluminum supports, the interest shown by the crowds has been even keener.

When first entering the dirigible hanger The News representative had a strange lost feeling. The height and length of the place is so magnificent that the spectator feels that he has shriveled to a very small size. The length of the hangar is 1175 feet. It covers 8½ acres—enough space inside for a dozen football fields.

Washington's monument and the Woolworth building could be set inside. The dirigible will have almost twice the gas capacity of the Graf Zeppelin, and it will be able to travel at a pace of 85 miles per hour and will go over 10,000 miles without refueling.

Many Pennsylvania cars were parked at the airport and the writer noticed several marked "New Castle."

FOLLOWS "PAL" TO JAIL
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 23.—What is life without a "pal"? Charles Woodworth, 57, asked a magistrate here who had just sent his friend and fellow pennhandler for years, George O'Dare, 34, to the county jail for 30 days. He told the peace officer that he might as well go to work. Wouldn't he send him to the "jug," too? And the obliging magistrate gave in. Woodworth joined his pal—for the regulation 30 days.

Austrian-German Treaty Attacked By Three Nations

France, Italy And Czechoslovakia Protest Customs Union

COMPLETE DETAILS OF TREATY ASKED

Tariff Walls Between Neighboring Nations Completely Levelled

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Mar. 23.—Heated controversy reverberated in the political arena of Europe today as France, Italy and Czechoslovakia vigorously protested to the Austrian government that its proposed customs union with Germany constituted a breach of the Geneva protocols of October 4, 1920.

The ambassadors of the three countries called on Foreign Minister Johann Schober, formally pointing out that the trade accord was in violation of Austria's agreement never to forfeit its sovereign rights in any respect. The foreign minister was reminded that in return to this promise, his nation was extended a loan of $30,000,000.

Regional Treaty
Herr Schober's answer to the delegation was that the understanding reached with Germany was not a dreaded "Zollverein," or customs union in the strict sense of the word, but a regional trade treaty laying the foundation for a United States of Europe, as projected by Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France. From semi-official indications here, it was indicated that the controversy might embroil the various governments in critical diplomatic disputes, probably culminating in an Austrian appeal to the permanent court for international justice. Official protests were not communicated to Germany because that nation did not sign the specific agreement against such a union.

Details Requested
The ambassadors of the three nations unanimously requested complete details on the proposed agreement, indicating that if unsatisfactory their governments might deliver written representations to Austria. Dr. Schober said the cabinet would meet to formulate its answer during the day.

Details of the trade accord, which completely levels the existing tariff walls between the neighbor nations, have not been worked out and probably will not be completed for three months. At the end of that time the pact will be submitted to the Austrian and German parliaments for approval.

The salient points of the treaty, as far as disclosed, included the following:

1.—Abolition of duties on goods traveling across the Austro-German border.
2.—The synchronization of Austrian and German duties on imports from states outside the pact.
3.—The establishment of an arbitration board on which both countries are to have equal representation.

4.—The recognition of each country's independence to proceed with trade agreements with other states, provided such agreements do not infringe on the stipulations of the Austro-German pact.

Agreement Surprises
Announcement of the trade agreement caught the continent, including Germany and Austria, by surprise. Negotiations seeking such an accord have proceeded in desultory fashions for several years, climaxed recently by a visit here of Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister.

French Cabinet Acts
PARIS, Mar. 23.—The first concrete step by any European power concerning the customs agreement reached between Germany and Austria was taken by France today when the cabinet of Premier Pierre Laval approved the "taking of measures to assure that all treaties and conventions are respected."

Charges have been made that the agreement is in violation of the Geneva protocols. In 1922, in which Austria undertook not to weaken her independence by trade agreements with individual countries.

Preserves Sovereignty
Berlin, Mar. 23.—German diplomats in the capitals of France, Italy and Britain will today ratify the projected Austro-German trade pact unquestionably preserves Austrian sovereignty.

In countering the protests made by the ambassadors of the three nations to the Austrian government that the proposed customs agreement is a violation of the 1922 League of Nations protocol, the German reply will be to the effect that the parliaments of Austria and Germany must first ratify the stipulated accord, and may cancel it after giving formal notice of such intention.

Supporting the apparently objectionable term "customs unions", a dreaded designation reminiscent of the iron-rimmed pre-war "Zollverein," the German diplomats have instructions to point out that the term must be used in order to distinguish the projected pact from the present trade treaties operating between Austria and various nations under a "most favored nations" understanding.

Leading Berlin opinion was that the union is essentially and predominantly an economic issue not impinging on the treaties of Versailles and St. Germain, but tending rather to accelerate continental economic activities.

Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius will receive the ambassadors of France, Italy and Britain to discuss the trade pact with them. He extended his invitation to the foreign diplomats last Friday.

On Th' Element O' Boldness An' Its Relation T' Success

A VENERABLE EXAMPLE O' PENNILESS OLE AGE

We're livin' in an age o' sharp competition when no element is so indispensable as boldness in th' attainment of all that is desirable in life. A finished education, purty hair an' unimpeachable character, finely chiseled features, th' form of an Apollo, a fine tenor voice, fashionable refinement an' good looks avail but little in th' battle o' life when unaccompanied by th' element o' boldness—or nerve.

Boldness is a positive characteristic o' th' spirit. A feller may be bold thro' fearlessness, but he may be fearless without bein' bold. He may be fearless where there is no apprehension o' danger or no cause for apprehension, but he is bold only when he is conscious or apprehensive o' danger an' has th' nerve t' encounter it.

Th' venerable example o' penniless old age who loves t' chew t'backer an' refer t' th' time when he could have bought th' ground where th' postoffice stands for two dollars, an' th' spinster who could have married th' best man in town, both illustrate t' us how a whole life may be changed an' soured thro' th' lack o' a little nerve.

Th' best maxims o' t'day were written almost a century ago an' if they fitted conditions as they existed then how much truer are they t'day when th' minds an' energies o' th' most resourceful amongst us are often exhausted in an effort t' even th' above mediocrity. If "Strike when th' iron is hot" meant anything in 1886 how much more must it mean t'day? If he who hesitated fifty years ago wuz lost what chance is there t'day fer th' feller who says, "I'll think about it?" "Nothin' ventured nothin' won" wuz a poplar sayin' long before th' death o' Cornwallis, an' yit t'day th' folks tryin' t' succeed without advertisin'.

So in our modern system o' reachin' th' front boldness is th' all important, over-shadowin' preeminent an' dominant requisite. If we're t' get a seat on th' end o' th' aisle in th' third row we'll have t' beat somebody t' it.

As Tell Binkley says, "Faint heart never won fair lady or sold any life insurance."

Movement Begins Opposing Further Aid For Veterans

Statement of Proposals By Rep. Royal Johnson Laid Before Hoover

VETERANS ARE PLANNING CANVAS

Rep. Rankin, Miss., Champions Soldier Legislation In Capital

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—Despite the overwhelming endorsement of the veterans loan bill and measures to aid soldiers of the World war, a movement is under way today to arouse opposition to further liberalization of veterans' laws.

A statement of proposals which may be faced by congress next winter has been laid before President Hoover by Rep. Royal Johnson (R) of South Dakota, chairman of the house veterans committee.

Aroused By Speech.
Aroused by a speech inserted in the Congressional Record by Johnson declaring that veterans' demands may be characterized as a menace to the country, representatives of veterans' organizations are planning a canvass of the situation.

Backers of the 50 per cent veterans' loan bill believe the result of this legislation will be a powerful aid in carrying on their future battles in congress.

They point to statements of economists that the bonus loans have stimulated retail trade and may be the turning point in the business cycle. The over-subscription of government issues is pointed to as an answer to the treasury's statement that the law would wreck the bond market.

Must Lessen Demands.

Johnson listed bills pending in congress calling for an outlay of more than $34,000,000,000. Making deductions for overlapping, he asserted the demands easily total $12,280,505,600.

"I know of no responsible veteran in the United States who will attempt to justify these demands," said Johnson. "I suggest that these demands upon the United States must be lessened or the average citizen living today and his children will say that while these men and women who served during the World war undoubtedly were great patriots during the war, their demands have reached such proportions as to be a menace to the very government they fought to save."

Rankin Speaks.

Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi, ranking minority member of Johnson's committee, replied: "Mr. Johnson's wild statement is very amusing, even though it is extremely misleading to the uninformed."

"Of course if all the bills introduced in any congress were to pass the amount of appropriations would be enormous. The same thing may be said of any state legislature.

"The veterans' loan bill passed at the last session of congress is doing more good today than any other measure that has been enacted since Mr. Hoover became president, his veto and Mr. Johnson's opposition to the contrary notwithstanding."

Chimney Contract Meets With Approval

Contract between the city and Joseph Hartland for the relining of a stack at the city garbage plant was approved by council in session at city hall today.

A bond with a five years guarantee was approved by Solid White.

It will not be necessary to close down the plant when the stack is repaired. There are two chimneys at the incinerator.

Woods & Golder To Receive Payment

Council met in the municipal building today and voted final payment for widening of North street in the amount of $1,287 to Woods & Golder.

They also voted $5,842, less $100 to the contracting firm for repaving North street. The $100 will be held back until repairs are made around a manhole at East street and Neshannock avenue.

Witness Names Man On Trial As Buckley Slayer

Frances Weinert, Jackson, Michigan, Prisoner Identifies Pizzino

SAW ACCUSED MAN WITH GUN IN HAND

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mar. 23.—The famous Gerald Buckley murder trial entered its fifth week today with Frances Weinert, 31-year-old convict, taking the witness stand and definitely identifying Ted Pizzino, dapper New Yorker, as one of the three men who fled from the LaSalle hotel here with guns in their hands on the night Buckley was slain.

Returning from the Jackson state penitentiary to testify at the trial of three alleged gangsters—Pizzino, Angelo Livochi and Joe Bonmarito—for the murder of the crime-ravaging radio announcer, Weinert stepped down from the witness stand and placed his hand on Pizzino's shoulder.

"This is one of the men," he said. Weinert declared that he was parked in his automobile at the entrance of the hotel when he heard the 13 shots which killed Buckley, he stated.

"A moment later three men came running from the hotel. They had guns in their hands. Pizzino was one of them."

Weinert is serving a term for forgery at Jackson.

EVERY DAY WORTH LIVING

There is no illness so oppressive as an imperfectly functioning stomach—perhaps not serious enough in many cases to be confining, still severe enough to prevent the full enjoyment of every day life and the pleasure of performing ones daily duties. To those persons who have habitual or occasional stomach trouble, such as gastric hyperacidity, sour stomach, gas disturbances, bloating, belching, heartburn, bad breath (halitosis), loss of appetite, we unhesitatingly say try Plunder's Tablets. To our personal knowledge, this remedy has relieved and corrected hundreds of such cases of stomach trouble, many of which were of a long standing nature. We shall be glad to give further information, and, of course, without obligation.

IMPORTANT BILLS BEFORE ASSEMBLY RECONVENE TODAY

Stricter measure for changing fees of recorders in third and fourth class counties and the Schwartz bill making it unlawful for committing magistrates to accept foreigner corporations as bail bond securities, were on the third reading calendar of the house. But that chamber had 30 second reading measures, some of which seemed likely to provoke a fuss if attempts were made to amend or return them to committee.

The senate has 25 bills on third reading, among them the Brandt bill to prohibit public utilities from putting new tariff schedules into effect until they have been approved by the public service commission. Also on the order of passage in the upper house is the Haines bill enabling farmers to borrow money from the federal government on the recording of chattel mortgages on crops already planted or to be planted. The bill has already passed the house.

Both houses it was indicated, will again remain in session until Wednesday.

P. R. R. Gets Bids For Sharpsville Track Job Today

Contractor's bids for the removal of the old Sharpsville railroad tracks between New Wilmington and Sharpsville, purchased by railroads affiliated with the Pennsylvania railroad over two months ago, were due at divisional headquarters here today.

Officials did not say when they would open the bids nor was it revealed how long it will be until the 13 or more miles of trackage will be torn up.

The Pennsylvania will continue to operate the New Wilmington Junction to New Wilmington section of the line and will maintain service at the abandoned company's terminal at Sharpsville.

Railroad Men's Locker House Is On Fire; Loss $50

Some unknown material in the rear of a steam radiator is blamed for a fire that damaged a frame locker house at the Cherry street shops of the Pennsylvania railroad Sunday evening, causing a loss of approximately $50, according to an estimate by the fire department.

The trainmen's locker house is located near the roundhouse and a store maintained by the railroad employees. Fire burned through the partition in the rear of the radiator and spread through the roof. The plant emergency hose was called into action before an alarm was sent to the Seventh Ward fire station.

WHEAT BUYING BY GOVERNMENT TO COME TO END

But on all sides today it was accepted that the board's action would serve to accelerate a demand in the new 72nd Congress for trial of the Gebenture or equalization fee schemes of dealing with the wheat situation. It is a prospect and a situation that bodes little peace for the Hoover administration, which came into power two years ago on the promise of solving the farm riddle which has plagued every administration since the war.

Emergency Measures

"Stabilization operations (Government buying)," the Board said, "are emergency measures and entail a heavy cost. The Grain Stabilization Corporation has acquired and is acquiring very large stocks of wheat. It cannot indefinitely buy more than it sells, or indefinitely hold what it has bought. It cannot follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market, paying heavy storage charges and selling below cost. Farmers know this, and would not ask that it be done. It would not be in the long run, to the farmers' own interest."

The announcement did not state how much wheat the Board now owns. Its operations in the market necessarily must be kept to a certain degree secret from the private operators. The general impression, however, in Washington and in the trade is that the Board now holds by the order of passage in the upper house is the Haines bill enabling farmers to borrow money from the federal government on the recording of chattel mortgages on crops already planted or to be planted. The bill has already passed the house.

Obviously, if the Board's present holdings were dumped into an already glutted market the financial loss would be tremendous. The Board's announcement, however, must clear that this policy will not be followed. Instead the Board will continue its operations in the 1930 crop until July 1, of this year, when the new 1931 crop starts to come in to the market. Thereafter, the farmers are going to have to cut their cloth according to the world pattern.

"It is too early now," said the Board, "to set forth in detail what the sales policy will be in the new crop year except to say that stabilization supplies of wheat sold crop will be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices. It should be stated now that the Federal Farm Board will not authorize the grain stabilization corporation to make stabilization purchases from the 1931 crop."

The announcement concluded with a plea to farmers to recognize their own responsibility and reduce their acreage.

But, according to information at the Department of Agriculture, this is not being done. Estimates of the Winter Wheat acreage show a slight increase over last year, and the expectation is that the 1931 carry-over will be fully as large as that of 1930. World conditions, too, are favorable to a heavy surplus.

That this foretells trouble goes without saying. That trouble doubtless will develop spectacularly in the session of the 72nd Congress meeting in December.

People who know anything about vice conditions in New York had better keep their mouths shut. The death rate among them shows that in this field a little knowledge is a dangerous thing.—The New Bedford Evening Standard.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to New Castle Drug, Becker's or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Peimint (double strength) and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Three Erie Men Found Guilty In Prisoner Subbing

Erie Attorney And Two Others Face Lengthy Prison Terms

WILL ASK FOR ANOTHER TRIAL

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., Mar. 23.—The three defendants in the "prisoner substitution" case, found guilty by a jury in Federal court of shuffling prisoners in a liquor case, were to appear before Judge Nelson McVicar for sentence today.

Attorneys for the three men, Samuel Y. Rossiter, Erie attorney; Joseph Donovan, Erie automobile dealer; and Lester Beals, also of Erie, have indicated that a new trial may be sought for the defendants.

The verdict in the case was returned by a jury of twelve men late Saturday night. The defendants were accused of conspiring to substitute Joseph Patrone, alias "Joseph Jarvis" in a six months prison sentence originally imposed on Stanley Wells, a wealthy Canadian rum-runner arrested under the "Jarvis" alias. Patrone pleaded guilty recently.

Rossiter and Donovan were found guilty on all six counts of the indictment returned against them. Beals, by a directed verdict, was found guilty on three counts. Rossiter and Donovan face possible sentences of nine years imprisonment and fines of $40,000 each or both; Donovan may receive a maximum of $30,000 and six years in prison.

W. C. T. U. BANQUET

Nation-Wide Banquet In Y. W. C. A.'s Over World Tuesday; Pittsburgh Invites Locals

Two or three automobiles will carry the members of the Blue Triangle club of the local Y. W. C. A. to Pittsburgh Tuesday evening. At 6:30 the members of the local club of business girls will sit down to dinner with the business girls club of the Central branch Y. W. C. A. of Pittsburgh.

It will be not at all an ordinary banquet, for at exactly the same time 258 similar associations from Maine to California and from Minnesota to Florida, will sit down at a banquet table, go through the same devotion, with thoughts directed in the same channels.

It is the annual "Nation-Wide banquet" and each member of the national business girls association of the Young Women's Christian Association will take part.

Making this an especially memorable event is the fact that not only business girls of United States will have dinner Tuesday evening together, but also girls of clubs in Hawaii, Philippines, China, Estonia, India, Japan, Syria and Turkey. Invitations have been sent to clubs in England, Scotland, New Zealand, Greece, Belgium, Chile, Uruguay, Brazil, Argentina, Ceylon, Mexico and Latvia.

Of course, as the time of the day varies greatly in different sections of the country, some will be having breakfast, others luncheon and still others dinner.

Because the New Castle club has just recently been admitted to the national organization, and the membership isn't large as yet, it has been invited to join the Pittsburgh club in observance of this National event.

Miss Peggy Gillespie of New Castle will be seated at the speakers table and will give one of the greetings.

This annual banquet has come to symbolize the sense of unity and solidarity and reach of relationship and because that sense of unity could not stop at the borders of this nation, invitations to groups of business girls in other countries were extended.

At Pittsburgh, Dr. Auleen M. "Amison" will be the main speaker of the evening and her subject will be: "The Accomplishment of World Brotherhood Through the Power of the United Purpose of Business Girls."

Government Sets Peace-Time Mark For Expenditures

Government Will Require In Excess Of $4,300,000,000 During Fiscal Year

RECEIPTS SLUMP; TREASURY WORRIED

No Improvement In Business Causes Income Tax Collection To Decrease

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—Establishing a new peace-time record for spending, the United States government probably will require in excess of $4,300,000,000 during the fiscal year which ends next June, judging from figures available today.

When President Hoover submitted his budget to Congress last December, it was estimated that total government costs would be $4,014,000,000, or an increase of $20,000,000 over the fiscal year 1930.

Instead of a $20,000,000 increase for the entire year there has been a gain in expenditures of $228,000,000 in a little over eight and a half months. Higher costs will continue through the remainder of the year, indicating expenditures of possibly more than $300,000,000 over 1930.

There have been decreases in costs resulting from interest and smaller refunds of tax receipts. However, these items have been far offset by the $69,000,000 boost in costs pertaining to operation of the Federal Farm board, $30,000,000 greater postal deficit, $112,000,000 for adjusted service certificate loans charged against ordinary receipts and other items.

Receipts Slumping On the other hand receipts are slumping off so seriously as to put the treasury in a dilemma. The budget estimate put total receipts for the 1931 fiscal year at $3,834,000,000, a reduction of $343,000,000 from 1930. Up to March 20 receipts showed a reduction of $425,000,000. For the entire year the cut will be substantially greater.

It is now comparatively certain that unless taxes are increased there will be a large deficit for the year ending June 30, 1932. The budget estimates was for a surplus of $30,000,000 for that year and for a deficit of $180,000,000 for 1931. This year's deficit, however, is now being estimated in excess of $750,000,000. The tremendous reduction in income tax collections, reflecting the business depression of 1930, will affect receipts not only this year, but in the 1932 fiscal year. Taxes from the latest available report, probably will be $185,000,000 less than receipts for last March. This would mean a drop of more than $300,000,000 during the January 1-June 30 period of this year, as compared with the same months last year.

Since there has been no appreciable improvement in business conditions so far this year, the probability is that tax receipts, as reflected by returns to be filed in March, 1932, will be little higher than those of the current year. The treasury originally estimated a substantial increase for 1932 due to the fact that the collection would be based on the rates of the 1928 revenue act, instead of the one per cent lower rate as on 1929 incomes.

Edith Taliaferro is back from a year's sojourn in Australia as star of an American company which took five Broadway plays to Sydney and Melbourne.

Australia is all right, but, take it from Edith, there's no place like home.

She got the shock of her life, she says, when she took her first bite of a sandwich served at a tea party in the swankiest restaurant in Sydney.

At first she couldn't identify the taste of that sandwich filling. Then, of a sudden she placed it. Ice-cold beans.

She tried another. That had a filling of ice-cold spaghetti.

"There simply aren't words," says Edith, "to describe what an ice-cold spaghetti sandwich tastes like. But the third was the climax of them all. It was filled with cold spinach!"

ETHEL BREAKS A LANCE.

Ethel Barrymore never reads what the reviewers say of her work. She's too sensitive.

"Go back," says Ethel, "and see what contemporaries said of Beethoven. And, dear Lord, what they wrote of Wagner. And they killed Admiral Dewey."

"Yes, Dewey deserves to be considered," Dewey looked into George Creel's eyes and said—I think this is what he said: "The footprints of the American people are on my heart!"

"Oh, I'm in damn good company!"

ANOTHER ILLUSION SHATTERED.

Every once in a while someone comes along and squashes the eternal daylight out of still another of our few remaining boyhood memories.

The original Cherokee Charlie of the wild and woolly west who is now seventy-four, and up to his neck in Long Island politics, says that they old friend Deadwood Dick couldn't shoot.

Think o' that!

The original Deadwood Dick was Richard W. Clarke, pictured as a man with a well-notched shooting iron, whereas, Cherokee Charlie explains, "he never shot a jackrabbit."

His trigger finger was gone. Lost it in a saw mill.

Furthermore, Deadwood Dick, who died not so long ago, was not a stage driver, like Cherokee Charlie, although that was his chief role in dime novels.

"He was a messenger at times," says Charlie. "Often rode with the driver on the box seat, but he never handled the ribbons regularly himself."

I'll bet you Cherokee Charlie would not talk like that if old Deadwood was alive.

First thing you'd know Cherokee would be lookin' into th' murderous muzzle of a six-shooter an' Deadwood Dick would be sayin' in a cold, cold, level tone:

"Eat them words, Cherokee Charlie, or by th' Eternal, I'll blow yuh t' Kingdom Come!"

INCOMPLETE OBSERVATION.

"If our children can be taught to appreciate the beauty of relics of the past," Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt is quoted as saying, "their lives may be fuller."

Senate Probers About Finished, Course Planned

Sentiment Prevails In Harrisburg Against Senate Dropping Probe

MAY START ON REPORT DRAFT

House Committee Will Keep Going—Not to Reconvene Until Wednesday

By WILLIAM B. BROWN International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 23.—Course of the senate utility investigating committee today was a matter for conjecture as members of the probe body gathered preparatory to an executive session this afternoon.

At the executive session, or immediately following it, the committee was expected to announce whether its probe would be terminated and a report made to the general assembly.

Work of the senate committee, it is believed, is about finished but there is a sentiment against it quitting until it has rounded out every phase of its inquiry into the actions of utility companies and the public service commission.

House Keeps Going. The house committee will not resume its investigation until Wednesday.

How long that body will continue its work is unknown, but with the vast amount of testimony remaining to be heard, it is quite possible its sittings may continue for a month. There have also been reports heard that the committee will continue hearings after the legislature adjourns.

In such an event, no sweeping changes in the present public service law may be looked for this session, but that action would pave the way for a special session of the legislature—talk of which has become more frequent on Capitol Hill.

Both house and senate committees have already made studies and heard testimony on the Scranton-Springbrook water rate case, the Scranton Electric and Philadelphia Rapid Transit companies but in the opinion of observers have disclosed little not already known on which changes in the public laws may be based.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD LANDMARK

$30,000 Loss In Grove City Business Section On Saturday Night

GROVE CITY, Pa., Mar. 23.—Fire Saturday night resulted in an estimated loss of $30,000 to the historic old Grove City House, rebuilt with four store rooms on the main floor and three living apartments on the second floor.

The loss by fire, water and smoke is about equally divided between buildings and contents. The flames had their origin in the attic over the Charles Bennett apartment. Firemen fought flames from 9 o'clock until midnight. The Mercer fire department responded to a call for assistance. Electric wires are thought to have been the cause.

The building was owned by James Karles. It is covered by insurance. On the first floor were shops. Above lived the families of Charles Bennett, A. Karles and Mrs. Julia Mechlin. The building, a dwelling house, was revamped for a hotel in 1884. Fred Squires was landlord until 1906 when R. B. Weakley succeeded for five years. Later it was changed to a business block. The location is in the heart of the business section, and only the efficient work of the firemen prevented a greater loss.

Alleged Slayers Of Aged Man Face Zanesville Trial

(International News Service) ZANESVILLE, O., Mar. 23.—Two Zanesville residents were to go on trial here today for the death of a 90 year old Civil War Veteran, who police say, was slain when he attempted to resist a robbery which netted his assailants $14.

Police charged the two men robbed Henry H. Gay, in his home at Cannelville, south of here, last March 7. The victim's head was crushed in with a glass door stop, it is alleged, after the two bandits had trussed him up with ropes.

One of the alleged assailants was captured in Charleston, W. Va., and the other was taken into custody at his home here.

Veteran Chicago Reporter Dies

J. Hilding Johnson, Dean Of Criminal Court Reporters Passes Away

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Mar. 23.—Chicago newspapermen lost one of its most picturesque characters today when J. Hilding Johnson, veteran reporter, died suddenly of acute stomach trouble.

Johnson's exploits as a reporter, almost legendary among the "fourth estate" here for years, were widely heralded in the play by Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht, "The Front Page," in which the character, Hildy Johnson, drawn from the reporter's life, was the hero and star of the cast.

Johnson was dean of criminal court reporters as a member of the Chicago Herald and Examiner staff. He was 42 years old.

The Parent Problem

You Can Borrow Books Of Good Advice From Your Town Or State

Steel Yourself Against High Pressure Salesmen Who Try To Sell You Volumes You Can't Afford

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Books are expensive, and most parents cannot afford to buy nearly all they desire to read. In nearly every village or small town there is a public library, and all the cities not only have good central libraries, but have numerous branches also.

If you have never visited your nearest library do so at your first opportunity. Take your children with you. You will be very welcome. The librarian is happy to have more people come and use the books. The more the library is used the more important grows the librarian's job.

Ask the librarian to show you the books, particularly those for parents. Most libraries now have many books on child care and training and on parent problems. You might find some of mine there, such as "The Modern Parent," "Building Personality in the Child" or "The Learner and His Attitude" and books for children on arithmetic. But you don't need to read my books to get my best if you read this column regularly.

Better read on the subject from other authors, such as Alfred Adler, Sigmund Freud, Edna Dean Baker, Douglas Thom, Phyllis Blanchard, Ernest Groves, Ada Arlitt, Walker and Walker, Max Seham, M. V. O'Shea, Karl Menninger, Faegre and Anderson, Blanche Weill, J. J. B. Morgan, Dr. E. V. McCollum, Mandel Sherman, Leta Stetter, William A. White, Karl de Schweinitz, E. Lee Vincent, George Herbert Betts, Lillian Gilbreth, Fowler Brooks, Frank Richardson, Lof Hayden Meek, Mary Sayles, Roy Whitney, Jessie E. Gibson, Blatz and Bott, Eleanor Wenbridge, Peckstein and McGregor, Lewis Terman, Frank

M. Freeman. I have not attempted to list them in order of importance. The librarian will show you good books, too, by still other authors well known and reliable.

My rural friends often go to town where there is a library. Why not visit it and find out how you can be served? For those who do not have libraries near their home, or the kind of books they want, there may be available a traveling library.

A post card to the state librarian of your state capital would bring you the information. There often are special arrangements for clubs and P. T. A.'s for getting groups of books from county and state libraries.

Nearly every state provides a complete or partial service to groups or individuals free, the borrower paying only the carrying cost to and from the state library. A good many of my readers may have never appreciated the opportunities they have had for getting books. You can also get books for your children.

Steel yourselves against high pressure salesmen who try to make you buy books you cannot afford to buy, or books neither you nor your children will often use. There are some excellent volumes and sets, however, particularly encyclopedias, worth buying. Nevertheless, it is always well to plan ahead and know what are the best books to be had, and to make as great use of the public library as possible, adding only those books you and your children will use frequently and will be using several years hence. Before building up a parent guidance library it were wise to know each book well before you purchase it. Anyway, my fellow parents, let us read and do our utmost to improve ourselves as parents to the end that we and our children will be happier.

IS GETTING TIRED OF BEING HELDUP

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Mar. 23.—Robbery, though a bit unusual for the average citizen even in these days, can become monotonous if the robbers vary not their technique. Take it from J. W. Berkowitz, attendant at a filling station here.

Twice within two weeks Berkowitz's station was held up, and each time in identical fashion. The stickupman poked head and gun through a rear window, demanded the cash and got it.

Berkowitz is getting tired of it he told police, who have no trace of the robbers.

Little Old Red Schoolhouse Is Made Up-To-Date

Rural Children Are Getting Latest Luxuries In Education

CONCORD, N. H., Mar. 23.—You'd never know the little old red schoolhouse now.

By a curious quirk in the workings of New Hampshire's educational statutes, rural children, in many instances, are getting the latest luxuries in public instruction.

The cross-roads school of 1931 has its radio, its phonograph, its motion picture machine, and its year-around auto transportation system, a statistical census now in process of completion shows.

The curious quirk in the educational situation in the Granite State that makes this possible is a law which provides that every town and village must collect for school expenses at least $3.50 for each $1,000 of tax assessed property within its area. If a community, blessed with more real estate than children, doesn't use its obligatory cash quota on the upkeep of its own schools, it must turn the surplus over to the department of education's state headquarters.

Most rural districts are reluctant to relinquish cash on hand when there's the alternative of spending it locally. In consequence, the three R's are absorbed by pupils in many small settlements amid surroundings not to be equaled in many of the wealthier big towns.

By way of a concrete example state education heads cite a "backwoods" school in the shadow of Crawford Notch. So isolated and sparsely inhabited is the district that the children of school age ordinarily number only from two to five. Big lumber firms, operating in the vicinity, however, have taxable holdings which net the town's educational fund a golden revenue.

Many Marriage Licenses Granted In Bucks County

(International News Service)
DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Mar. 23.—"In the spring a man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" sang the whilom poet, and young men of Bucks county are proving the singer a great prophet.

Checkup of records at the court house shows that this has been the prize marriage license season in the county, with 197 granted during the first two months of the year. Eighty-five per cent of the couples granted licenses to wed, the records show, have been non-residents of the county, coming from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Ohio and Texas. Age of applicants ranged from 16 to 72.

CARDS SENT OUT

New second class test cards, designed after requirements set down at a meeting of the Lawrence County Leaders' club about two months ago, are already being distributed. They are accompanying each boy's registration certificate. The new cards are smaller than the old ones and better fit the registration certificate envelope.

GIVE CAMP DATES

Camp periods, according to headquarters, will probably commence June 15 for under-privileged boys; June 22 for cub scouts, and June 29 for Boy Scout troops. The closing date is expected to be August 8. Camp circulars appear by the end of March.

MAKE GOOD REPORT

First Christian Scout troop 15 held its regular weekly meeting in the First Christian church with Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and Assistant Scoutmaster Ralph Montgomery in charge.

The meeting was opened by Ralph Montgomery. Color ceremony was used with Color Bearers Roy Baynham and Herman Kitchen. Jim Pherson led the boys in the scout oath and flag salute while Bugler Rus Book played "To the Colors" which was followed by the scribe collecting dues and Haskie Kitchen receiving the good turns.

First aid practice was held with Carl Clapp of the Bell Telephone company instructing the team. As there are so many boys in the troop who wish to participate in the First Aid meet on April 9, 1931, the troop will probably enter three teams.

Paul Mackey took sixteen boys in an adjoining room to teach them several Indian dances and war cries to be presented on Parent's Night, scheduled for April 14.

Patrols presented their patrol stunts which they are preparing for Parent's Night.

The color ceremony was also used to close the meeting with the same scouts participating.

Scribe, Bill Pherson.

MRS. TODD WAS IN WRETCHED HEALTH

Ambridge, Pa., Woman Kept Going Down Until She Almost Lost Hope

HAD NO IDEA THAT ANY MEDICINE WOULD HELP HER LIKE WORLD'S TONIC DID

Remarkable indeed was the statement recently made by Mrs. Wm. Todd, 209-14th St., Ambridge, Penna. She said:

"I have never paid any attention to proprietary medicine advertisements, but World's Tonic appealed to me as it was not claimed to be a cure-all, but was intended as a systematic treatment to help fight catarrh, from which I had suffered for years. I purchased one bottle, and from the time I began to use it, I felt better. I had an idea it was my thoughts that made me feel like the medicine was really doing me good, but this has all vanished and I am now convinced that World's Tonic is a medicine of real merit, as it has proven it in my case."

"For the last two or three years I was almost an invalid and had used enough medicine to start a small drug store. My greatest burden was stomach trouble and catarrh of the head that impaired my hearing. Nothing I ate gave me strength. I fell off until I was nothing but a mere skeleton. Some said right at the start I had catarrh of the stomach and would never be well, but I never gave up as I had seen people as bad off as myself and they got well."

"I was nervous and the slightest noise would cause me to get excited and cause my heart to beat fast. I never had a night's rest in two years. After I finished my meals I would have fullness in the stomach."

"The least change in the weather would cause me to contract cold. My head would stop up and I would have heavy dull feelings over my eyes. Mucus dripped from my head into my throat and I was constantly spitting, but since using the third bottle of World's Tonic this has entirely gone and my hearing has greatly improved also."

"I can now eat things that I could not for a long time and what I eat is doing me good. I am gaining in flesh every day. My sleep is restful and I am not nearly so nervous. Minich and I speak of how well I am looking and I give all the praise to World's Tonic. It certainly has acted like magic in my case and I am very grateful for the good it has done."

Get a bottle today. Sold at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other reliable druggists. (A-129).

Mrs. Stephen Lukacs is a surgical patient at Mercer Hospital.

The Ladies Club of Millburn enjoyed the last twelve dinner of the season on Thursday last. The April meeting will be an afternoon affair. The programme included a report of her visit to State Grange by Mrs. Minich and a talk on the school situation in Springfield township as related to cost of operation by Mrs. Hart. Those present were Mrs. J. H. Armstrong and daughter, Mrs. John Woods of Grove City who is visiting her parents, Mrs. H. J. Minich, Mrs. Hollis Johnson and Jean, Mrs. Lester Blake and children, Mrs. Fred Knauff, Mrs. Chas. Mills and Tommy, Mrs. M. S. Brennan, Mrs. H. L. Patterson, Mrs. Christopher Fink, Mrs. Chas. Cummings, Mrs. Lyle Cummings and children.

The regular meeting of the Millburn Grange was held Friday evening. In the absence of the lecturer Jared Winger, Mrs. Chas. Rudolph acted in that capacity and presented a very attractive impromptu program of music, stunts and questions. Arthur Courtney, Master of Pleasant Valley Grange, Miss Eleanor Courtney, David Tate and Miss Rachael Tait were guests. A "Booster" meeting is planned for April 10. An exchange of programs between Pleasant Valley and Millburn Granges is also a plan for some future date.

The coat of arms of Sir Christopher Wren, who was M. P. for the borough of Weymouth in 1700, has recently been unveiled in Weymouth Parish church.

Peak Of Unemployment Is Believed Reached

Administration Leaders Oppose Progressives' Plan For Special Session

Reports Of Improved Business And End Of Drought Reach Capital

By WILLIAM H. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—In the face of progressive demands for a special session of congress to aid the jobless, administration leaders on Capitol Hill were convinced today that the nation has passed the peak of unemployment.

Reports of improved business prospects, with frequent fall of rain and snow over a wide area, inspired Republican leaders to believe that better times are on the way. They believed that government reports for February will show a distinct gain in employment over the peak of 6,050,000 unemployed in January, with brighter prospects ahead.

Optimism At Hand

There were numerous sign posts cited by administration leaders for their optimism. First, they were buoyed because the stock market has shown stability in the last few weeks, with the bulls scoring averages and withholding bear rushes; second, they gained some enthusiasm from reports of a better business tone in Europe; third, they cited a better psychological outlook in this country.

Some administration spokesmen regarded the automobile trade as a future barometer. They pointed out that the industry is preparing for a big sale drive in April, with its leaders hoping for gains in business over last year. One motor expert declared there would be a heavy demand for new cars by habitual car-owners, who have driven the old car for two or three years due to stock-market losses in 1929. Another predicted higher-priced replacements by those owners who buy a new car every year.

Auto Industry Picks Up

A revival of activity in the auto industry, it was argued, will spur a score of other industries toward recovery. This would be true of the steel industry in particular, and market reports have indicated an improved outlook for that barometer of American commerce.

The report of Secretary of Commerce Lamont that 13,000 firms reported increased employment in February over January was taken to indicate that the February unemployment would be considerably lower than of January.

Nation wide snow and rain, as pointed out by Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, had a tremendous psychological effect on business interests in the drought areas. For one thing, the precipitation assured a wide agricultural belt of sufficient moisture for the growing of garden produce, forests and grains.

The expected treasury deficit of $700,000,000 for the current fiscal year and the $75,000,000 drop below estimates in income tax payments failed to shake the confidence of administration leaders. Neither deficit nor loss in taxes surprised anyone. The administration already has decided not to tamper with income taxes until after the next election.

Rights Restored In Spain Today

First Time In Seven Years That Spanish People Have Enjoyed Rights

(International News Service)

MADRID, Mar. 23.—For the first time in seven years, Spain today enjoyed all the rights and privileges of constitutional guarantees of which it has been deprived since Primo De Rivera inaugurated an iron-handed dictatorship in 1923.

In a formal decree remarkable for its brevity, Premier Juan B. Aznar restored complete freedom of the press, free speech, open public assemblies, and the protection of private homes from invasion by authorities.

Some of these privileges were temporarily granted General Damaso Berenguer when he held office, but this is the first time since 1923 that the constitutional rights have been given back to the people of Spain without any qualification whatever.

In many respects, it might be said that the liberal decree was like throwing the gauntlet of defiance to the enemies of the royal government. Observers were watching with keen interest to see if the Aznar government will withstand an expected flood of printed and oratorical attacks better than the ministry of Damaso Berenguer, which succumbed five days after press liberty was restored.

PROVISIONS FOR FAIR RATE BILL REVEALED TODAY

strict each seven years, each of whom when elected would serve a full seven-year term.

The present commission, however, would not serve until a full board could be elected next November, but would be removed from office on the first day of the first month 30 days after the bill would be signed. With the exception of the commissioners themselves, all other officers or employees of the commission would continue as at present until the proposed board had begun to function.

Halts Enormous Profits

To prevent utility companies earning more than seven per cent the bill provides that one-half of all net profits above that figure and not above eight per cent shall be paid into the state treasury. All profits above eight per cent would go directly into the treasury.

Another method which the bill provides to prevent utility companies earning inadequate service is to permit cities, boroughs and districts to establish their own municipal plants for gas, electricity and water. That procedure would be allowed either in competition with public utilities which are not rendering good service at fair rates or by the purchase and condemnation of the plants of utilities which serve the district.

Proposed new rates would not become effective, under provisions of the Pinchot bill, until they had been submitted to the fair rate board and approved.

Against Fixed Charges

The bill also provides for cutting down fixed charges to consumers and for the elimination of complicated methods of determining rates and charges. Methods are set up under which the fair rate board would be empowered to fix what the governor considers more equitable rates for small consumers.

The proposed board would be given full control of the issuance of securities by public utilities so as to prevent inflation of real values.

Another provision of the bill would put all inspection of meters under state control. The bill provides that the utility whose meters are inspected shall stand the expense of such inspection if the meter is found to register too high, and the customer shall stand one-half the cost of testing if the meter is found to be correct.

The governor explained that the fair rate bill is not a new law entirely, but rather a revision of the present public service law, removing from it the provisions which the governor believes do not adequately protect the people.

One of the provisions which Pinchot stressed in his statement is that which will prevent the proposed board from looking itself and acting like a court.

Is Not a Court

Of that phase the governor said: "The fair rate board is not a court, and the duty of the board is not merely to weigh testimony when cases are brought before it, as a court does. On the contrary the first and most vital duty of the board is to act as the militant defender of the people. In that duty it must use all of its knowledge and all its resources. That is the reason for its existence."

The bill proposes to district the state as follows:

District No. 1, Philadelphia.

District No. 2, Delaware, Chester, Montgomery, Bucks, Adams, York, Lancaster, Berks, Lehigh and Northampton.

District No. 3, Franklin, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lebanon, Schuylkill, Carbon, Northumberland, Monticome, Luzerne and Lackawanna.

District No. 4, Bedford, Fulton, Huntingdon, Perry, Juniata, Mifflin, Snyder, Union, Somerset, Cambria, Blair, Centre, Clinton, Lycoming, Sullivan, Westmoreland, Indiana, Clearfield, Armstrong, Clarion and Jefferson.

District No. 5, Allegheny.

District No. 6, Fayette, Greene, Washington, Beaver, Butler, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, Crawford and Erie.

District No. 7, Monroe, Pike, Wayne, Susquehanna, Wyoming, Bradford, Tioga, Potter, McKean, Cameron, Elk, Forest and Warren.

Salaries of members of the board would be the same as that of the present commission, of which the chairman receives $10,500 and the members $10,000.

Candidates for election to the board would have to be at least 30 years old and a resident of the district from which he is a candidate for at least one year prior to election.

This Is Tornado Time In Midwest Region, And Folk Look Aloft

Destructive Twisters May Be Expected During Five-Month Period; "Cyclone State" Has No More Than Other States

A UNIQUE tornado which swept Nebraska. The cloud is white, instead of the usual dark.

By RICHARD SWALLOW

Central Press Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kas., Mar. 23.—March marks the beginning of the tornado season in the United States.

The season lasts some five months, according to S. D. Flora, federal meteorologist for Kansas, stationed here. Flora has been a student of tornadoes for 25 years. He is one of the greatest authorities in the world on the subject.

At frequent intervals during this five-month period, the destructive twisters sweep down over the great central portion of the United States, causing heavy life and property loss.

Few After August

There may be occasional tornadoes in February, and a few after middle August, Flora says, but there are exceptions. It is during the spring and early summer months that they create their worst havoc.

Several score tornadoes occur during this season in the central part of the United States, the only place in the world which has these peculiar wind manifestations. The nature of the country helps to cause them.

Flora states, the great basin between the Appalachian and Rocky mountains providing climatic conditions unknown elsewhere.

In numbers, tornadoes occur about equally in all parts of this vast area. Kansas, known for years as the "cyclone states," has no more of them than other states of the region.

Tornadoes appear in the spring and early summer because the weather at this time is most favorable for their coming.

Formation of Tornadoes

"A tornado forms," Flora explains, "when cold air sweeps down from the north and meets the hot air coming up from the gulf regions. If the cold air is above and the hot air below, the twisters are likely to form. This is not the natural condition of the air, and the hot atmosphere tries to force its way upward, while the cold air tries to force itself downward. The two conflict, and inson presses down on the ironing board, the firmer it becomes. Its simplicity and the fact that it could be used most any place, makes it appear as being a very useful invention.

The action of the tornado is similar to the suction and whirling motion of water as it drains from a bath tub. There is a hollow place of comparative calm in the center. It is around the shell, the outer portion where the wind sweeps in all its fury, that the greatest power exists. Currents of air in the cloud do not move parallel to the ground, but either upward or downward, like a corkscrew.

A vacuum exists in the center of the cloud, the sucking motion having extracted all of the air. This causes one of the most peculiar phases of a tornado. The greatest damage that is caused to property is not from the whirling motion itself. Structures that survive the force of the shell of the twister meet instant destruction once they are in the vacuum within.

Follow Warm Sun

"Tornadoes usually occur in the afternoon or early evening, following a warm, sticky morning," Flora says. "A warm sun thoroughly heating the lower air can have the same effect as though it blew up from the south. Tornadoes usually form in the southeast portion of a region where the air pressure is low."

By looking at his weather chart, Flora can tell when a tornado is likely to occur and just about when it will be reported. This is possible because he has the direction of the winds, the air pressure at various points and the temperatures.

But the weather bureau never forecasts tornadoes, although it may predict "heavy winds." To forecast a tornado would cause intense excitement and serve no good purpose. Flora points out. The exact location could not be told. The tornado may form and never touch the ground, thus creating no damage. A sudden shifting of the wind may change conditions.

German Ambassador Urges Cooperation

Dr. F. W. Von Prittwitz,

Depression And Peace Could Be Better Discussed
By Nations Of World

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 23.—International cooperation to solve the problems of depression and peace was advocated by Dr. F. W. Von Prittwitz, German Ambassador to the United States, in a speech before the Rotary Club today.

Germany, he said, wants peace and is anxious to cooperate for further international reduction in arms and to surmount rivalry in trade with cooperation.

"At first we consoled ourselves with the hope that in the normal trend of the business-cycle better conditions would finally return," said Ambassador Von Prittwitz.

"Since then the conception gained ground that local and national remedies are futile, leading economists in all countries have pointed out the necessity of getting to work to study the common problems in the terms of a larger economic community."

"A number of European nations already have decided to submit the problems of economic readjustment to international conferences."

He suggested that "a more adequate distribution of international funds together with a decline of the rates of interest, would indeed seem to be one of the most essential prerequisites for normalization."

Germany, he said, through suffering from after-effect of the war and a staggering reparation burden, will continue "in our effort to fulfill our national obligations regularly and punctually."

He expressed the hope that the world disarmament conference to be held in Geneva will achieve its aims and free the world from an economic burden.

More Old School Books Are Donated To City Collection

Interest Aroused Among Residents Who Recall Texts Used In School Days

The proposal to collect a group of old-time school texts in use in schools of the district many years has met with an enthusiastic response. New Castleites and residents of the vicinity are daily inquiring about the collection.

The books will be grouped and placed in a glass-covered case for that purpose, and stored in the professional library of the school administration building. Residents are invited to donate old school books to this interesting collection.

One of the recent and very interesting additions to the collection of old school books is Hale's Premium History of the United States, published in 1835. This book is called the "premium" history for the following reason: In those days there were very few authors of school text books and the public authorities found it necessary to encourage authors. As a reward to this text book we read the following:

"At a meeting of the American Academy of Language held at the City-Hall, in the city of New York, October 20, 1820, the following resolution was adopted:

"As the proper education of youth is, in all communities closely connected with national prosperity and honor; and as it is particularly important in the United States, that the rising generation should possess a correct knowledge of their own country, and a patriotic attachment to its welfare.

"RESOLVED, that a premium of not less than four hundred dollars, and a gold medal worth fifty dollars, be given to the author, being an American citizen, who, within two years, shall produce the best written history of the United States, and which, with such history, shall contain a suitable exposition of the situation, character, and interests, absolute and relative, of the American Republic; calculated for a class-book in academies and schools. This work is to be examined and approved by a committee of the institution, in reference to the interest of its matter, the justness of its facts and principles, the purity, perspicuity and elegance of its style, and its adaptation to its intended purpose."

It appears that the award was made to the above named book. It is a small book containing 298 pages, each of which is 3x5 1/2 inches. On the fly-leaf is written, "Aaron Miller, his Book. Bought of John Somerville, January 5, 1841. Price 50 cents." The owner of the book is Miss Mary J. Scherger, a teacher in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

Now a premium should be offered to the author on United States history who can refrain from writing a text book. The country is literally flooded with text books in history and other subjects—some good, some bad and many indifferent in quality.

W. & J. Students Back In Classes

Dove Of Peace Flits Over W. & J. Campus As Classes Are Resumed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Mar. 23.—The dove of peace flitted over Washington & Jefferson college today as students assembled for their regular Monday session of chapel. Dr. Simon S. Baker, president of the institution, stated he expected classes would be resumed in full, marking an end to the "walkout" of students who last week demanded his resignation.

Indications as chapel session began were that the students would propose a conference with Dr. Baker in regard to their charges of autocratic administration policies.

Washington, Pa., Mar. 23.—The student strike at Washington and Jefferson College here ended today as classes were resumed in full following the traditional Monday morning chapel exercises.

The dove of peace apparently had settled over the buildings of one of western Pennsylvania's oldest colleges. No reference was made in the chapel program to the walkout in protest of the administration of Dr. Simon S. Baker, president of the college.

Dr. Baker said today he had not been notified of the hour when student leaders have announced they will present him with a petition listing 11 charges on which the protest walkout was based.

Two other petitions, charging Dr. Baker with being a "czar" and claiming inefficiency in his administration, are to be presented at the meeting of the board of trustees this Wednesday in Pittsburgh, student leaders reported.

Hot Mills Passers Win Championship

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 23.—In one of the most exciting games ever seen on the hardwood floor this season the ex-high stars of the Hot Mills were formally crowned the Shelby league champions Saturday evening when they gave the Specialty performers their second defeat in the play-off series, score 20-19. It was a real championship game. Each team battling like Spartan soldiers-giving no ground, asking for none. It was an impossibility to pick the winning team until the final whistle. The game was featured with splendid defense work, throughout.

The opening whistle opened rivalries brought the excited crowd of the season into intense excitement and a great roar greeted this game as the ball was tossed in the air and the game was on.

After a period of play Boone of the Specialty had accredited a foul after four attempts to which Laseo added a basket near the close of the period, thus giving the former champions a 3-0 advantage. Then resorting to defensive play the period closed with the score remaining the same, in favor of the Specialty.

The tide of battle switched in the ensuing period as Friedhoff rings up the first score for the Hot Mills when he sinks a foul and later in the period registers from the center of the court. The crowd is in an uproar as the score is deadlocked 3 all. No worthwhile advantage is given to score again and the half ends with the game deadlocked. As yet the game is like a pitcher's duel, in a base ball game.

In the third quarter both quintets started out with the same cautions with no score until the period was well on its way. Gardner sinks the first basket in this stanza and Sumner's team mate repeats to give the specialty a 7-3 lead. Then with a lightning like move Friedhoff dribbles a short distance and with a good one-handed shot sends the ball through the hoops. Urusu scored from mid-floor on the next play to deadlock the game at 7 all. A foul by Clyde places the Hot Mills in the lead but is of short duration as Patterson after a fast dribble and one-handed shot registers as the period ends giving the Specialty a 9-8 lead.

The contest had now reached a crisis. The two rivals had battled on even terms for three periods and much depended on the outcome of the final stanza. It was rather disheartening for the Specialty when the Hot Mills had started a scoring spurt that gave them a 5 point lead before they were stopped. The scoring had come in rapid succession with Fitzgerald, Chambers and Friedhoff leading the attack. The score stood now at 14-9 in the Hot Mills favor. Specialty called time to muster up their forces for a last supreme effort. Immediately after the resumption of rivalries Gardner missed a shot and Boone missed a shot. Within one point of the Hot Mills' lead, Gardner had an opportunity to deadlock the game when he was awarded a foul which he missed. Then Fitzgerald with a pass from Clyde nearly the length of the floor scored with no one near him and making the score 16-13 for the Hot Mills. On the next play Patterson registers from under the basket and again brings the score within one point of the Hot Mills' advantage. Fitzgerald makes this two as he accounts for a foul. Patterson again comes to the fore with a two-point shot from an extremely difficult position and deadlocks the game at 17 all. There were 4 1-2 minutes left to play. The crowd was in an uproar and was standing for the remainder of the game. Both teams became extremely cautious. At last an opportunity to score came but Patterson missed under the basket and Gardner his team mate missed a foul. It was tragic as the Specialty had only accounted after this last shot 1 out of 12 free throws. Two more of these would have given them the game. There was 40 seconds left to play when Boone tips the ball in from the bank board to place the Specialty in front 19-17.

The teams line up at their usual places again. Urusu tips the ball to Clyde and runs down toward his goal. He was clear and Clyde passes the ball to him, who sends the ball through the hoops just as Boone fouls him in the act of shooting. The score is now 19-19 with 20 seconds of play left and the game depending on the free throw by Urusu. The throw is perfect and the Hot Mills are out in front again. On the next play from center Patterson acquires the ball and misses an easy shot. There was a scramble for possession of the ball after leaving the bank board, when the final whistle blew with the score standing at 20-19 for the Hot Mills.

Friedhoff was high scorer with 7 points for the new champs and Urusu and Fitzgerald each accounted for 5. Both Chambers and Clyde contributed their share but they were outstanding on the defense. For the vanquished Patterson, Boone and Gardner were outstanding.

This gives both teams an equal foothold on the cup. Each has won it for two seasons and the one to win the next season will have permanent possession. Also the Office and Mechanical have won it once and are still included in the race.

Westinghouse high, which was winner in District Eight of the state, succumbed to Scott high 23-13 Saturday night, and again offered proof of the North Braddock team's strength, particularly on the defense. Likewise, District Ten champion, Farrell high, demonstrated its superiority over DuBois to the tune of 27-15 in its first round tourney play. Floor critics are watching the contest tomorrow night with close attention, as they believe the state champion may emerge from the conflict between Scott and Farrell.

Holidaysburg, District Six title holders, swept Windbar from the list of state contenders in administering a 22-18 defeat to the district five winner.

Expect Fast Contest When New Castle Hi Battles Saints Five

Coach Bridenbaugh Will Send Strongest Lineup Against St. Mary's Wednesday

Benefit Contest Is Expected To Draw Big Crowd At Senior High Floor

A fast floor contest is anticipated Wednesday night when Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's New Castle high school team takes the hardwood at Senior high gymnasium against the highly touted St. Mary's quintet in a benefit game for Regis McAuley, high school star. The whistle which will send the two local aggregations in action will be sounded at 8:00 o'clock.

Although followers of both teams seem to feel that their team will win the "sport bug" appears to predict a fast contest which should be full of thrills. The game is an unusual one due to the fact that a high school team is being pitted against an independent club. Basketball in both of these divisions is played differently. Some think that the youngsters of the Senior high are going to prove a bit too "clever" for the Saints. While others think the other way. Anyhow fans are looking forward to a game that will be worth watching. Coach Bridenbaugh stated that he will start his strongest lineup into the tilt in the hope of adding the Saints to the victory list.

Browns Hope To Get Out Of Sixth Place

Manager Bill Killefer Says Reserve Strength Will Be Big Factor

Has Same Pitching Staff That Finished 1930 Season—No New Stars

By CHARLES REGAN
International News Service Special Correspondent.

WEST PALM BEACH, Mar. 23.—Reserve strength is going to play a big part in the battle the St. Louis Browns intend to wage in an effort to improve their sixth place standing of last year, according to Manager Bill Killefer.

Jack Burns has shown well at first base and has just about cinched Lou Blue's job at the initial cushion.

Jim Levey has answered the short-stop question and Ralph Kress has been shifted over to third where he is showing well. Oscar Melillo is to be back at second.

"Goose" Goslin will again perform in left field. Fred Schulte in center and Tom Jenkins, Milwaukee slugger of last season, will alternate with Larry Bettercourt, late of Wichita Falls, in right field.

The pitching staff is unchanged with Walter Stewart, Sam Gray, George Blaeholder and Chad Kinsley forming the main portion of the pitching staff.

Killefer is not dreaming of the upsets that might put his team ahead of the Athletics, contenting himself with the declaration his team of 1931 athletes is better than the aggregation that finished sixth last year.

Swimmers Tie, But Lose To Youngstown

Technicality Results In Awarding Victory To Visiting Team From Central

Showing the best all-around form and team work since the start of the season, the Y. M. C. A. Senior Swimming team fought its way to a 25-25 tie in the swim meet with Youngstown Central "Y" in the local pool Saturday afternoon. The tie was in points, but due to a technicality that stipulated in case of a tie the winner of the relay wins the meet, a victory was hung up for Youngstown.

The meet was close, exciting and in doubt throughout.

Jim Herbold, local star, established himself as perhaps the most outstanding speed swimmer in this district when he nosed out Floyd Runner, Ohio state champion in both the 40 and 100 yard free style events. McCleavy of Youngstown showed fine form in winning the 40-yard breast stroke.

The 40-yard backstroke, won by Jim Paichney, New Castle backstroke star, was made in the fastest time of any local meet this year.

Meet results are as follows:

40-yard free style—First, Herbold, New Castle; second, Renner, Youngstown; third, Sotus, New Castle. Time 21.9.

100-yard free style—First, Herbold, New Castle; second, McClintic, Youngstown; third, Sotus, New Castle. Time, 1:04 7-10.

160-yard relay—Won by Youngstown (Gobel, Goldcamp, McClintic, Renner). Time, 1:30 2-10.

Fancy diving—First, Stickle, Youngstown; second, Paichney, New Castle; third, Sotus, New Castle.

Hockey Teams To Play For Titles

Elimination Tourney Opens Tomorrow Night On Three Fronts

CLEVER TEAMS TO SEEK CHAMPIONSHIP

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Mar. 23.—The first three elimination series in the Stanley Cup playoffs for the professional hockey championship of the world, which begins tomorrow night on three fronts, are certain to be hotly contested.

The schedule in the first stage of the playoffs is Boston Bruins vs. Les Canadiens, Chicago Black Hawks vs. Toronto Maple Leafs, and New York Rangers vs. Montreal Maroons. In each case the rival sextets are practically evenly matched on the basis of their records for the past season.

The Bruins have rolled up 62 points against 60 for Les Canadiens. Toronto is credited with 53 points compared with 51 for Chicago. The Rangers have chalked up 47 points, just one more than the Maroons.

In two of the three cases, the quality has been maintained since the National Hockey league was re-organized and expanded into a ten-club circuit five years ago. Over the five-year stretch, the Bruins have piled up 292 points to 287 for Les Canadiens. The Maroons have won 102 games, one more than the Rangers.

The Bruins, Canadiens and Rangers have qualified for the playoffs for five consecutive years. The rough and tough Boston outfit is our choice to eliminate Les Canadiens and the other survivors and win the battered old trophy.

Seattle Solons To Probe Mat Contests

Seattle Athletic commission has promised an investigation of allegations that wrestling fans have been "duped" by fake matches and that wrestlers have been booked around the circuit like vaudeville actors, instructed when to lose and win.

The world's greatest and most grueling horse race, the English Grand National, which will be run on March 27, always the occasion of feverish interest in the British Isles, is the subject of more than the usual amount of enthusiasm this year by reason of the grading of John Hay Whitney's Easter Hero as favorite. The Whitney entry is quoted in the

To illustrate the severity of the race with its many heartbreaking obstacles, one has only to look up bookmakers' prices where one will find long odds offered against a horse even finishing the course.

Shenango Works Bowlers Victors At Pittsburgh

Local Tin Mill Duxpin Bowlers Win By 388 Pins In Pittsburgh Saturday

The Shenango Tin Mill duckpin bowlers went to Pittsburgh on Saturday morning for a return match with the General Office teams of the Pittsburgh headquarters and the locals won this time by a total of 388 pins. In New Castle last week the Shenango men won by 210 pins. This gives the Shenango Works the inter-city championship for this year.

The locals used all the men they had or the score would have been larger according to Mr. Sweet. The Shenango men motored to Pittsburgh and were met by M. D. Wells and James Lamoree, at the Hotel Henry. A wonderful dinner was served with the local men as honored guests. After dinner the men went to the bowling alleys and proceeded to show the Pittsburgh men how the game should be played. At the dinner speeches were made by M. D. Wells, James Lamoree, Rudolph Theis, chapereone of the locals, and Ed Taylor, who with Mr. Hadley was on the bowling committee.

After the bowling matches were over the Shenango men were taken on a sight-seeing tour of Pittsburgh and in their travels visited Station KDKA and were conducted through the studio by Bill Farren, sports reporter.

At 6 o'clock the men went back to the Hotel Henry for supper, and later in the evening all went to a show. The return trip to New Castle was made at a late hour. The Shenango men thoroughly enjoyed their trip to Pittsburgh, and express thanks to the officials of the plants D. S. Pyle, and R. J. Hadley, who have been back of the inter-city matches for the past ten years, and have given their wholehearted support to the athletic endeavors of the men.

In the two matches the one here and in Pittsburgh the Shenango men had a grand pin margin of 598. The results of the matches rolled Saturday:

Down in Dixie Base Ball Notes

By Central Press

BILOXI, Miss., Mar. 23.—Apparently, Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington Senators, this year will emulate General Grant of the late Civil war and "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

If the Senators contemplate any drastic changes in their lineup for 1931 the changes are not, at this time, apparent.

The Senators seem to regard the Athletics as their only serious rivals, and they may be right. Therefore, Johnson is standing more or less pat on his 1930 team, the same as Connie Mack, A's astute leader.

The Capitol City crew head north enthusiastic over their bright prospects. Their team looks good, especially the mound staff.

Lloyd Brown, according to camp observers, is the most improved southpaw in the circuit. Brown will probably hurl the first game of the season, which is against the A's. He looks in first-class shape and may give the Senators the lead they need in those early games.

Another item of encouragement to Washington fans is the news that Bump Hadley has developed a new curve with the new baseball.

The Senators today look like an all-round pennant contender with a possible weakness in the receiving department. However, the Washington crew had very little holdout trouble this season and virtually all players have been able to put in full practice, which is certainly an advantage.

In moving a railroad that interfered with his golf at Poantico Hills, Mr. Rockefeller made it evident that he does not regard a smoke-screen as a natural hazard.—The Lowell Evening Leader.

MEET THE MANAGER

BY JACK SORDS

JOHN MCGRAW
MANAGER OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

John Joseph McGraw, in the 29th year of his reign as manager of the New York Giants, is laying plans which he hopes will return him and his club to the heights of pennantdom once more.

The Little Napoleon hasn't tasted victory since 1924, a stretch of six years, the longest flagless period he has ever experienced.

McGraw's record as leader of the Giants is unsurpassed. In 28 seasons he has won 10 pennants, won three world championships, has finished second 10 times, third four times, and has finished in the first division 26 times.

Up to and including 1924 McGraw averaged a pennant every other year. Since then his teams have averaged third place.

McGraw was born in Truxton, N. Y., April 7, 1873. At the age of 17 he joined the Olean, N. Y., team as an infielder. Subsequently he played second and third base for Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Baltimore, Md. and St. Louis.

McGraw is a product of the famous Baltimore Orioles, that noted school for managers which at one time had on its roster McGraw, Wilbert Robinson, the late Hughie Jennings, Bill Gleason and Joe Kelley, all becoming noted big league players and all but Kelley pennant winners.

The Little Napoleon succeeded to the management of the Orioles in 1899, but shortly thereafter was sent to St. Louis. Wilbert Robinson, now Brooklyn manager, succeeded him. In 1901 McGraw became manager of the Baltimore Americans, but a quarrel in 1902 with League President Ban Johnson caused him to leave that team with some of his star players and throw in his lot with the New York Giants.

Next—Walter Johnson.

Organized Labor Will Battle For Musmanno's Plan

Organized Labor Will Stick With Musmanno In Coal-Iron Police Fight

NO AGREEMENT HAS YET BEEN REACHED

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Mar. 23.—Further crystallization of sentiment in favor of the Musmanno bill calling for abolition of the coal and iron police was noted today as labor leaders flatly denied reports from Harrisburg that organized labor had decided on a neutral attitude in regard to enactment of the Musmanno bill or the administration measure.

"Organized labor is for the Musmanno bill and has not declared itself otherwise," declared John A. Phillips, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

Phillips' statement followed that of Rep. A. Musmanno, (R) Allegheny, author of the measure, who branded as untrue reports that labor leaders had changed their attitude during a conference with employers and industrial leaders at a conference with governor Pinchot on Friday.

Patrick T. Fagan, president, district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, said:

"At the conference which was held in Harrisburg last Friday the United Mine Workers representatives at no time wavered in their support of the Musmanno bill. On the contrary we stated out and out that it was the bill which should be passed."

"We still feel that way and we shall throw our whole support behind it."

Fagan added that efforts to postpone consideration of the Musmanno bill would be opposed and expressed confidence that the measure would pass the lower house.

Philip Murray, vice president, United Mine Workers of America, declared "Principles embodied in the Wilson" (administration) "bill are bad x x x. On the other hand the Musmanno bill is entirely just."

People Discover Random Reading Unsatisfactory

Local Librarian Suggests That Readers Look Over Series Of Reading Courses

"Read one book at a time but never one book alone. Good books always have relatives. Follow them up." This advice of Henry Van Dyke is being followed more and more, according to Miss Alice Sterling, city librarian, as people discover that random reading is unsatisfactory and that reading courses along many lines are available at the New Castle public library.

For the person who wants to read something worth while but is not sure what subject to try first, the booklets in the "Reading with a Purpose" series published by the American Library association offer a quick glimpse into many subjects which will enable the prospective reader to decide whether he wishes to try psychology, biology, literature, history or drama.

Those who have never tried reading courses will be surprised to find how much more interesting the French revolution, for instance, becomes when, after reading a brief summary of the period, novels such as "The Tale of Two Cities," "Reds of the Midi" and "Scaramouche" may be read to fill in the picture.

For those who do not find among the 55 booklets in the "Reading with a Purpose" series reading courses which interest them, Miss Sterling will be glad to give individual advice on books in still other subjects.

Start Survey On Road To Mercer

State Engineers Start Work On Route Between Mercer And New Wilmington

According to advices received from Mercer, engineers from the state highway department have started the survey on the seven mile stretch of road between Mercer and New Wilmington, which will be started this summer.

The road has been completed from New Wilmington to the Mercer county line in Lawrence county, and for a number of years, the matter of constructing the road from Mercer to New Wilmington has been discussed by Mercer county commissioners.

When completed, the distance between New Castle and Mercer will be considerably shortened by the new road.

Search Is Made For Missing Youth

GREENVILLE, Pa., Mar. 23.—Disappearing into the night, without the slightest preparation, after tossing his heavy coat and a flashlight on the porch of his home, Lee Sutton, 17-year-old son of Robert Sutton, of New Vernon township, is sought by relatives.

The youth was more than average size, weighing between 135 and 140 pounds, and was about five feet eight inches tall. He was dressed in only a light-weight suit.

Maple Water Is Being Boiled Here

Farmers in different parts of the country are gathering and boiling maple sap. Many camps can be seen in woodlands where there are maple trees. It won't be long until there will be plenty of maple syrup and maple sugar.

cereal in soups? Yes!

JUST sprinkle in some Kellogg's Rice Krispies next time you have soup. Adds the flavor of toasted rice. Delicious!

Rice Krispies are the "different" cereal. So crisp they crackle in milk or cream. Wonderful for breakfast, lunch or supper. Order a red-and-green package. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ESTELLE DENIES DIVORCE RUMOR

Stating emphatically that there has been no rift in the marital peace of the Dempsey family, Estelle Taylor, movie actress and wife of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight king, admitted there had been a slight family difference before Dempsey's recent trip to Salt Lake City to referee a fight. "Anyone who thinks I am going to get a divorce is silly," the actress said in reply to rumors.

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

Central Press. NEW YORK, Mar. 23.—Those of The Congregation who have been worried by the thought that George Bernard Shaw was about to pay a visit to our fair land, need no longer be apprehensive. The Old Boy's not coming, and, like Chick Sale, he tells us why.

Over in Great Britain, it appears, he has a few ladies and gentlemen to cater to. Over here, he says, every little shopkeeper is up on the rooftop with a megaphone crying his wares. "And why should I go to America?" he adds, "where there are so many of me?"

In other words, Why carry hot dawgs to Coney Island?

DIME LIFE.

George Newton, assistant to the managing director of the Prince George Hotel, saved a wealthy man's life once, and ten years later the man sent him a pair of ten-cent-store cuff links as a reward for his bravery.

Some men set more value on their lives than others.

SNAPSHOTS.

Those who parade along the streets in the theatre district in the middle of the evening, sometimes run into a spectacle which, ordinary enough in itself, stops the sidewalk traffic and turns the promenaders into gapers.

This is when a group of show girls or night-club entertainers, still in their heavy make-up and with filmy short dresses covered by brilliant cloaks, pile out of some brightly lighted doorway and take taxis, bound for another show-house or club.

"Is it a raid?" or "Are they being taken to jail?" are the questions usually asked. But as no guards are present the answer becomes obvious. Then taxis clatter away and the street parade resumes its leisurely march, refreshed by this glimpse of real glamour.

QUEST FOR LADY NICOTINE.

The Bowery bum has the reputation of spending his days and nights sprawling ignobly in some dank and dingy hide-away. As a matter of fact, the Worthy Brother does very little sprawling. When he isn't looking for food or a place to flop for the night, he's peddling in quest of tobacco. That's the one thing he misses more than anything else.

His trail lies close to the curb, eyes down, looking for cigar and cigarette butts.

He gets his setting-up exercise bending over to pick them up.

NO WRINKLES.

When Irene Franklin appeared in "Sweet Adeline" she wore tights in one scene. The producer was a little dubious about the little lady's ability to look well so smoothly clad. After the opening performance a porter employed in the theatre smiled at the actress and said: "Miss Franklin, I think I ought to tell you—your legs was a pleasant surprise to th' management!"

Regular Discharge Papers Available

Men Who Were In Army But Few Days Can Get Regular Discharges

Men who were in the army but a few days and received blue discharge papers, or discharges from draft during the World war, can now get these exchanged for regular discharge papers, according to information received from the adjutant general of United States war department, Major General L. H. Bridges, by Commander Guy J. Wadlinger of the American Legion, Post Perry S. Gaston No. 343.

The information is received in the forms of the following announcement. Men affected by it are asked to get in touch with Commander Wadlinger. The announcement follows:

At the request of your department adjutant, Major General L. H. Bridges, the adjutant general, war department, Washington, D. C., addressed the following letter regarding blue discharge certificates and discharge from draft: "I have your letter with regard to exchanging blue certificates and certificates of discharge from draft for honorable discharge certificates."

"It has been observed by this department that many men during the period of the World war were erroneously issued blue discharge certificates and certificates of discharge from draft. The department, however, is unable to make a statement that will apply generally to all cases of this kind, for the reason that each case must be considered in accordance with the showing of the official records."

"If the men referred to in your letter will forward to this office their blue discharge certificates or discharge from draft certificate their requests for the certificates of honorable discharge will receive attention. Blank forms upon which such application may be made are not furnished by the department."

It might be well for you to check upon the men who have filed for admission to your post, and if they are holding discharges of this kind send them to the war department, Washington, D. C., under registered mail, and a letter written by the applicant under his own signature asking that same be exchanged for an honorable discharge certificate.

Neshannock Tax Is Same As Last Year

Twelve mill road tax for Neshannock township is the same as last year, according to Supervisor E. J. Douglass. When the ten mill levy is not enough it is necessary to go into court and ask for power to raise an additional two mills. This was done last week and the impression was given that it was a raise in taxation. This is not the case as the twelve mill tax has been in force for the past 6 years, but it has been necessary to get the approval of the court each year, the same as was done last week, the supervisor says.

FLOCKS OF WILD GEESE ARE SEEN

(International News Service) BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Mar. 23.—An early spring is assured, so far as farmers in this region are concerned. Several flocks of wild geese have been seen recently, feasting in wheatfields in Centre and Scott townships. The birds have done considerable damage to the young wheat according to farmers. But according to the young wheat, the damage is made up by the certainty of their being harbingers of spring who seldom prophesy incorrectly.

Employee, 56 Years Fires Opening Blast

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Mar. 23.—With the receipt of rush orders, the No. 3 blast furnace of the Sharpsville Furnace Company was blown in yesterday. The torch was applied by James Gaines, 77, oldest employee of the company and connected with the furnace business here for 56 years. Fifty men have returned to work at the stack and by the end of this week, the number will be increased to approximately 300.

Legion Of Honor To Meet Wednesday

An interesting meeting is looked forward to on Wednesday evening when the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory holds its semi-monthly meeting in the Cathedral.

Several matters of vital importance will come up for discussion at this time, and a big attendance of the membership is looked forward to.

The insurgent conference at Washington, it appears, did everything necessary to forming a third party except leaving the old parties.
